Gun Stolen In House Break; Total Now Two

Two house breaks and an attempted break are under investigation this week by police.

Chief David Nicoll reported that two homes were entered Feb. 8 and said an Italian-type gun was stolen from one home. The attempted break, he reported, was partially witnessed by two women but police were not called until nearly two and one-half hours later because the women didn't want to call the police for what might have been a false alarm.

The actual breaks were in the

Fire Department Budget Includes Raise, 48 Hours

A Fire department budget of $130,580, released by the selectmen for voters' consideration, includes both the requested 48-hour work-week and a suggested $6 weekly wage increase.

The budget also includes salaries for five additional men required to keep the present coverage under the 48-hour schedule. It has been estimated that the 48-hour week would increase costs by about $12,000 this year and slightly more in 1957.

As broken down, the proposed budget looks like this:

Salaries, permanent men,
$102,251 compared to $78,366

Controversy has been raging over operations at this contractor's yard off Fletcher st. operated by the Acme Concrete company of Stoneham. Town officials have said they believe the firm is exceeding its authority to operate as a contractor's yard while officials of the firm deny any infraction of zoning regulations or appeal board decisions.

Noyes Suggests Building Permits Be Rationed

Planning board members proposed two additional measures Monday night which would either slow down building here or add money to town coffers to meet increased costs.

Member Robert MacMackin suggested that a flat $500 fee be placed on each building permit — with the money to go into the town treasury and used for such purposes as new schools or for added utilities.

Plan Interchange At Dascomb Road

Despite requests to the contrary, the state is planning to construct an interchange at Dascomb rd. for the relocation of Route 28.

No interchange is planned for Lowell Junction.

That information, which caused town officials to comment acidly on the attention paid to Andover's requests, arrived at the town hall via a letter to Selectman Sidney

Plan Meeting With Officials

The Acme Concrete company of Stoneham, through its president, Walter Thomas, has flatly denied any operations at its Fletcher st. contractor's yard that violate zoning regulations or appeal board decisions.

And in a letter to Town Counsel Vincent A. Stulgis — answering his letter that gave the firm a choice of stopping some activities there or facing action — the firm is reported to have offered to meet with town officials to discuss the matter.

Atty. Stulgis said the reply "was friendly" and offered to give town officials a chance to visit the premises and see what is being done there.

A meeting will be arranged as soon as possible, Mr. Stulgis said.

Earlier this week, Atty. Stulgis said he had been instructed by selectmen to send the firm a letter telling it that it was believed that operations there exceeded the firm's authority to operate a con-

Obituary...

MRS. ELLEN G. SULLIVAN.

Mrs. Ellen G. (Scanlon) Sullivan, 85, a former Andover resident, widow of John J. Sullivan, died Feb. 10 in the Protectory of Mary Immaculate, Lawrence, following a long illness.

A native of Nova Scotia, Mrs. Sullivan came here as a child and resided in Andover and Lawrence. She attended St. Augustine's church and was a long-time member of the Holy Family sodality.

Surviving are two sons, Walter M. Sullivan of Andover, with whom she resided until moving to the Protectory a year ago and Harold Sullivan of Wilbraham; two daughters, Mrs. Ruth Cook of Nassau, B.W.I., and Mrs. John Rogers of Lexington, Ky.; seven grandchildren; also several nieces and nephews.

The funeral was held Monday from the Lundgren funeral home with a high Mass of requiem at 9:30 in St. Augustine's church. The Rev. Henry B. Syvinski, O.S.A. was celebrant. Seated within the sanctuary was the Rev. Henry B. Smith, O.S.A. Burial was in the Immaculate Conception cemetery where Father Syvinski conducted committal services.

The bearers were Arthur Scanlon, John Sullivan, J. Stuart Clarke, Frederick Crosdale, Patrick Scanlon and Frank Scanlon.

homes of John Fielding of Lowell st., where police said nothing of value was taken and William J. Ferris, 250 Beacon st., where police said a man's amethyst ring, two flashlights, $10 in cash and the gun were taken.

The gun was the second reported stolen here in a short time. The first was taken from Michael Jay's store, police reports said.

Saw Young Men

The attempted break, during which a screen was cut and a cellar bulkhead was smashed, happened about 8 p.m., on Beacon st., the chief said. A woman neighbor, who knew the house to be vacant, is said to have seen two young men drive up to the house and go around to the rear.

She did not call police, Chief Nicoll said, because she didn't want to bother the police if the men were doing nothing wrong. She waited until after 10 p.m., when her husband returned home, to call and report the occurrence, the chief said.

He explained that two cruisers were in the West Andover area about 8 p.m. and might well have been able to trap the men on Beacon st. if the call had been made promptly.

"We'd rather make a hundred dry calls", the chief asserted, "than have someone delay calling us when they see something suspicious".

Still Investigating

Chief Nicoll said the Michael Jay's break is still under investigation. Police went to Haverhill last week to talk with several young men who are being held there for similar activities, but without result.

Prowler Report

A report Monday night that prowlers were around the house at 70 Main st., where the Townsman office is located, turned up no leads, the chief reported. He said cruisers were unable to find any sign of the prowlers in the neighborhood.

Most men's downfall can be traced back to a desire to get even.

SUGGESTS WAY TO LIMIT BUILDING

How Christian Science Heals

"A HEALING OF SINUS TROUBLE"

WNAC Sunday Feb. 19, 1:15 p.m.

Member Lee Noyes favored an outright limit on new home construction — urging that only a limited number of permits be issued during any year.

Third Idea

A third measure, based on percentages, had already been offered by Chairman Eugene A. Bernardin Jr. He had suggested that one percent of buildings up to $40,000 be charged; three-quarters of one percent on buildings from $40,000 to $100,000 and a lesser amount on larger construction. His idea, too, was to add money to the town treasury to help meet rising costs of utilities and schools created in large part by the building boom.

Hard On Small Man

Mrs. Virginia Hammond, commenting on the $500 fee, suggested it might work a hardship on a man buying a smaller home because the added cost, passed on through the builder, might be just enough to make the home too expensive. Someone buying a $30,000 or more expensive home wouldn't be faced with that problem, she suggested.

Not Stop Building

Mr. Noyes pointed out that his plan would serve as a brake on building here but would not stop it. Under the plan, he would allow local builders to have permits for the number of houses they have built, on the average, during a period of five or six years. Outside builders would be allowed a number of permits which was determined by the average number built by a contractor, using the past five or six years' figures.

Thus, under the Noyes plan, larger developers with plans for hundreds of homes would be slowed down while local contractors would, he felt, be allowed to build about as many as they would ordinarily plan to undertake.

He said figures may be available soon from another Massachusetts town which is cutting down building via the limitation on permits method.

Robert J. Macartney of Argilla rd. sustained a fracture of his right foot while skiing in Stowe, N. H., last week. It is expected he will be confined at home for six weeks. In his company at Stowe were Jack Woodworth and Melvin L. Weiner.

MRS. FRANCIS REILLY
(Charles Studio)

REILLY - WALLACE

At a 4 o'clock ceremony in St. Augustine's church, Saturday, Miss Margaret Ann Wallace, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander M. Wallace, Lowell st., became the bride of Francis P. Reilly, son of Mrs. Bernard Reilly and the late Bernard Reilly. The Rev. Henry B. Smith, O.S.A. officiated before an altar arranged with white gladioli. James Sheard was the soloist and Miss Mary Lanigan presided at the organ.

Escorted by her brother-in-law, Donald C. Bassett of Andover, the bride wore a princess gown of Mystic pure silk fashioned with fitted bodice of Alencon lace appliques re-embroidered in iridescent sequins and seed pearls and bouffant skirt ending in a chapel length train. Her fingertip veil of illusion fell from a pearl and sequin trimmed cloche and she carried a cascade arrangement of white roses, stephanotis and white heather.

The bridal attendants included Mrs. Loring R. Kew of Lowell, sister of the bride, as matron of honor; Miss Carol Ann Winkley of Andover, niece of the bride; Miss Moira E. Nixon of Swampscott, and Mrs. Leonard W. Daley of Lawrence as bridesmaids. All wore mauve crystalet waltz length gowns styled with scoop necklines, long torsos and bouffant skirts. Their headpieces were matching velvet studded flowerbands and they carried clusters of poms and heather, the honor attendants in orchid and the bridesmaids in pink.

James J. Reilly, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man and the ushers were Joseph F. Barrett of Andover, Albert Chadwick of Methuen and John A. Reilly Jr. of Andover, nephew of the bridegroom.

A reception in the Andover Country club followed the ceremony. After a wedding trip to Florida the couple will reside at 209 Lowell st.

The bride is a graduate of Punchard high school and was employed by the Lawrence Electric company. Mr. Reilly, also a graduate of Punchard high school, is a Navy veteran of World War II and is self-employed as a general contractor in Andover.

Taxpayers Plan
Second Town Meeting Preview

Residents of the town may have two town meeting previews at which to discuss items in the warrant.

Taxpayers association President Henry Wolfson has announced plans for a second meeting March 2 at 8 p.m. in the Central auditorium if the initial preview meeting Feb. 29 does not conclude discussions.

He pointed out that pressure on interested citizens attending the first meeting will be removed by knowing that unfinished business may be taken up at the second session.

"One disadvantage of our town meetings," the Taxpayers head asserted, "is that many voters are reluctant to question or discuss numerous items which they don't understand or need more information on, because a tremendous amount of business has to be transacted in so short a period of time. Not only do voters want to get home to get some sleep but those employing baby sitters also have their sitter's hours to worry about."

He explained that arrangements for the second preview of town meeting allows all interested parties to ask whatever questions they wish without worrying about the time. "If, at a reasonable closing hour, there are still articles on the preview's agenda which those attending want to discuss," Mr. Wolfson continued, the second session will be held on March 2.

Edward Bower has been elected president of the Lawrence Cooperative bank, to succeed the late William H. Glover. Mr. Bower has served the bank as treasurer and retains that post. He lives, with his wife and son, on Hidden rd.

West Parish Church Plans for the Future

This artist's conception of the West Parish church and the additions to it has been approved by church members.

The Rev. Hugh B. Penney has explained that bids probably will go out in April, with construction to begin in May and possibly be concluded by next October.

The passageway connecting the present church, at left, with the old vestry will serve only that purpose. There will be an office and study, a conference room and eight classrooms in the old vestry.

The building between the old vestry and the new vestry at right will house a large parlor, kitchen and youth room on two floors—one below ground and one at ground level.

The building at far right, on a two-floor basis, will include an auditorium on the ground-floor and five classrooms in the basement.

Mr. Penney said other of the new rooms will be used for classes, bringing the total to 22 and a capacity of 400 youngsters—the present seating capacity of the church.

He explained that a future plan may involve a "double shift" that would allow the buildings to hold 800 youngsters for Sunday School and 800 persons at Sunday Worship services.

The firm of Arland A. Dirlam of Boston drew the plans.

Allen Flye Is Elected BPW Head

Allen M. Flye, elected to the board of public works last year, is its new chairman.

Mr. Flye, a state civil engineer, was elected a week ago after Chairman Sidney P. White resigned that post so another member of the board could familiarize himself with requests to be discussed at town meeting. Mr. White will retire from the board in March. He has spent 17 years of his BPW service as chairman of the board.

After the election, Secretary Alex Henderson resigned that job, saying he felt his services were not "appreciated". Both Mr. White's and Mr. Henderson's resignations were accepted with regret. No successor to the secretary was named.

The new chairman was educated in Methuen public schools and is a graduate of Northeastern university. A member of several fraternal and engineering organizations, he has been employed by the state since 1930. He holds the position of civil engineer.

Mr. and Mrs. Flye have lived here since 1935 and make their home on Lowell st. with their son.

State Ignores Andover

The state department of public works apparently doesn't take Andover very seriously.

Commissioner John A. Volpe has just told Selectman Sidney P. White that interchanges on the relocated Route 28 are to be as outlined following a meeting in March of 1954 — including the much-disputed interchange at Dascomb rd.

There is no provision for an interchange at Lowell Junction.

Many residents of the town and practically all town boards have urged the department to establish an interchange at Lowell Junction and eliminate the Dascomb rd. access. A public meeting in 1955 showed overwhelming sentiment for that move.

But the state persists in setting up the interchanges as it wishes, without other explanation and apparently without seriously heeding the requests of the townspeople.

We feel that it is arrogant and probably foolhardy for the state department to act in that manner — the least Mr. Volpe could do is adequately explain the department's reasons for ignoring Andover's repeated requests. Perhaps there are good reasons, but unless they are presented, we certainly must feel that the department is being deliberately callous in its treatment of the town.

****

Don't Heckle Industry

How much will industry want to come here?

We have several times explored the advantages to be gained by the town by having industry come here in newly-zoned industrial areas. Most thinking people agree that the benefits far outweigh the few disadvantages of moderate industrial expansion.

We should, however, explore the industrial viewpoint of Andover as a site for new plants of whatever description. Does industry want to come here, in preference to many other towns actively engaged in promoting their assets?

We believe industry will want to come here — unless it becomes apparent that only hostility will greet them.

We believe that industrial leaders will be quick to see the advantages we will offer them — in location, available water supply, transportation and in many other ways. They will want to come to Andover.

But all our advantages will be of no avail if hostile feelings are everywhere in evidence — making industry feel that the welcome mat has been withdrawn and that all they can expect is to be heckled.

We see an example of that in the Acme Concrete company's situation — there has been nothing but hostility to the firm's attempt to locate in an industrial district in our town. Are not other firms, even if they are of other types, going to examine the town's treatment of this company and wonder if it is worth while to take all that guff from the town?

We note, for instance, that the town is now seeking to have Acme stop most activities at its yard and confine itself to "A Contractor's Yard" — and it appears that such an operation is being considered as merely a place to store equipment until it is moved out to a job, with no other activities to take place on the property.

Perhaps that is a fair definition of a "contractor's yard" — we believe that is something that needs further explanation, but it certainly would place the Acme firm in the position of being unable to operate its yard profitably and probably would result in having the company move out.

It is that type of heckling that will discourage industry from coming here. We hope town officials and citizens alike will adopt a more positive, friendly approach toward industries of the future or all our other efforts will have been in vain.

Appoint Berthel To Police Force

Russell Berthel, 175 Elm st., has been appointed a regular officer on the police department.

The selectmen appointed Berthel, top man on a civil service list of four names.

Officer Berthel served on the department for eight months five years ago but resigned for personal reasons. He was placed on the reserve list, refused a chance for appointment about a year ago but was able to accept the current appointment.

He is a native of Lawrence and was educated in public schools there. He has lived here for 10 years. Mr. Berthel is a Naval veteran.

He is married to the former Eleanor Marshall, R.N. of Lawrence and the couple has a child, Jane Marie.

PLAN INTERCHANGE ON DASCOMB RD.

P. White. He had asked Commissioner John A. Volpe of the state public works department to let him know about the plans when the two met at a hearing in Lawrence some weeks ago.

Mr. Volpe said the relocated route will be substantially as described in March, 1954 — west of Lovejoy rd. and Greenwood street. Interchanges, the commissioner wrote, will be at Lowell st., Route 133 and one at River rd., although the letter said that interchange was not requested at the 1954 meeting, and one at Dascomb rd.

Bridges will go across Vale st. (Tewksbury st.), High Plain rd. and Chandler rd. Osgood st. west of the new road will be relocated to Dascomb rd. and the part east of the road will be dead-ended.

Reference To 1954

The letter referred only to a meeting here in March, 1954 but officials recalled a meeting in June, 1955, at which many residents and officials expressed concern with the Dascomb rd. interchange and strongly urged that it be placed in Lowell Junction. Officials interested in industrial development here also urged the state to put an interchange in Lowell Junction, pointing to the need for access to the new road for potential industrials there.

Expresses Disapproval

When the letter was read to the planning board Monday night, Member Robert MacMackin immediately urged the board to write Mr. Volpe protesting the arrangement and again urging that an interchange be placed in the Junction and not at Dascomb rd. The board agreed.

The selectmen late last year said they held a letter from the state department pointing out that the town would be consulted and notified before plans became final. No word had been received on the plans since that time until Mr. White's communication this week.

SCHOOL COMMITTEE OPPOSED TO PLAN

time meeting last week when the committee met to discuss bids on the Shawsheen school addition. It had been on the agenda for the board's meeting Feb. 7
but no discussion of the question came up.

The statement issued by the committee Tuesday night reads:

"The Andover School committee, unanimously, wishes to be recorded as opposed to the town manager plan of government as it pertains to its effect upon the public school system.

"In the opinion of the school committee, the repair and maintenance of the school buildings and the purchasing of supplies and equipment are more properly the responsibility of the school committee, to be carried out by the superintendent of schools.

"No educational advantage or material savings can be foreseen by placing these functions in the hands of a town manager."

The manager plan, as outlined by the committee and presented in the suggested draft of legislation, gives the manager responsibility for purchases, on requisition from the school committee or superintendent. Repairs and maintenance are also placed in the Manager's hands and he would be responsible for new construction after consultation with the committee and other officials on the educational problems.

Member Albert Cole Jr. is away on Army Reserve duty. The other members, Miss Greeley, William Doherty, Mrs. Dorothy Partridge and Roy Russell, attended the meeting Tuesday night.

Memorial Tower Was Built To Honor World War Dead

By Kay Noyes

This beautiful tower is one of Andover's most impressive sights and through its stately elegance represents the esteem that men held for their departed friends and alumni who gave their lives in World War I.

The Memorial Tower was given to Phillips academy in the name of eight former academy students and descendants of Samuel Fuller, who as the donor, had professed that while a student at the academy, he returned to his dormitory in the evening to study and on hearing the pleasant toll of mill bells, vowed that if he ever became wealthy he would donate to the school a tower with a carillon that would surpass any that could be heard.

His wish became a reality in the spring of 1922, when the ground of the old training field where George Washington once inspected the local troops was broken for the laying of the foundation. Shortly afterwards, this immense symbol of a boyhood dream and gesture in memory of those 87 students who gave their lives was completed.

Cornerstone In 1922

The architectural design was drafted by Guy Lowell who also closely watched the construction work being done by the E. W. Pitman company of Lawrence. The granite and brick was painstakingly laid and, when completed, rose to a height of 159 feet and on the 16th of June of the same year, the laying of the cornerstone became a very important part of the commencement exercises.

The wrought iron clock which appears midway on the tower has been most accurate in the telling of time and the weathervane which surmounts the white, wooden bell tower has for many years shown the path of our wind currents.

37 Bells

The carillon originally composed of a great number of bells was brought to its completion of three octaves when Samuel Fuller later added seven more bells. It is at present composed of 37 bells and is one of the outstanding carillons in this part of the country.

Appropriately enough, it was first played on Armistice Day in 1923, when Dr. Carl Platteicher, the head of the music department at the academy, presided at the console. Following Dr. Platteicher's first concert many distinguished carillonneurs gave recitals and among those who played and attracted huge audiences were M. Anton Brees and later, Kamil Lefevre of Belgium.

Dedication Thrilling

At the towers dedication ceremony, Edward Shippen Barnes of the Rutgers Presbyterian Church in New York City and George Stevens of Gloucester were the carillonneurs. At this performance a huge audience seated around the old training field and others parked in their cars for hundreds of yards away thrilled to the pealing of the bells. Because of their adeptness with the hand levers and the pedals which strike the lower bell, these artists utilized their skill and artistry and succeeded in entralling the listeners with their magic. Another unique feature performance was a double quartette consisting of Andover residents playing the trombones.

This magnificent monument which rises high above the elms is a symbol to the passerby of the heroism and sacrifice made by those former students so that the teachings of the school and the sacred principals of loyalty its ideas may forever live.

Bells

The carillon originally composed of a great number of bells was brought to its completion of 37 octaves when Samuel Fuller added seven more bells. It is at present composed of 37 bells and is one of the outstanding carillons in this part of the country.

Appropriately enough, it was first played on Armistice Day in 1918, when Dr. Carl Platteicher, head of the music department of the academy, presided at the console. Following Dr. Platteicher's first concert many distinguished carillonneurs gave recitals and among those who played and attracted huge audiences were M. Anton Brees and later Emil Lefevre of Belgium.

Dedication Thrilling

At the towers dedication ceremony, Edward Shippen Barnes of the Rutgers Presbyterian Church of New York City and George Stevens of Gloucester were the carillonneurs. At this performance a huge audience seated around the old training field and others packed in their cars for hundreds of yards away thrilled to the pealing of the bells. Because of the adeptness with the hand levers and the pedals which strike the ever bell, these artists utilized their skill and artistry and succeeded in entrancing the listeners with their magic. Another unique feature performance was a double quartette consisting of Andover students playing the trombones. This magnificent monument which rises high above the elms is a symbol to the passerby of the heroism and sacrifice made by those former students so that the teachings of the school and the sacred principals of loyalty and ideas may forever live.

tractor's yard.

"Where they got the idea, I don't know", Mr. Thomas asserted late Tuesday afternoon. He said the manufacture of concrete blocks or the pouring of concrete castings there would certainly violate the appeal board ruling — so that is not being done.

Mr. Thomas explained that the site is being used as a contractor's yard, a use he said is included in the by-laws as permissible.

"We are abiding by the decision" of the appeals board, the Acme president declared.

He pointed out that a contractor's yard includes storage of equipment not in use; possibly any type of materials to be used in the contractor's business and the transportation of that material to wherever it is needed and many other uses, depending on the contractor's type of operation.

Town Counsel Stulgis, commenting on the discussions among town fathers about the problem, said it is possible that a contractor's yard means only storage of equipment — and suggested that it is the type of matter that might best be decided by the courts.

Mr. Stulgis earlier this week said he believed he might have to take action to request a temporary injunction against the firm if he did not hear from it within a "few days". "Then", he declared, "both sides can say what they are doing at the yard". However, the proposed meeting probably will defer any action by the town.
